

Functional Requirements:

- Provide all user financial information in a simple, intuitive and enjoyable way.
- The reports will tell you where your money is going, by organizing your spending into categories.
- It helps the user create short and long financial goals, and, of course, helps them to achieve their goals.
- It facilitates the input of the revenues and expenses of the user with the data import directly from the card.

Non-Functional Requirements:

- The database must be protected for access only by authorized users or developers.
- The system response time should not exceed 10 seconds.
- The software must provide security to users so that they can trust their financial data for analysis.
- The software should be accessible to people with little knowledge in the areas of technology and financial management.
- The software will be developed in Java using the Android Studio platform.
- The software should be up and running on the latest versions of the Android system.
- The project, developed in Java, aims to give developers experience in teamwork, negotiation of scopes and paradigms of object-oriented programming, but losing as little as possible in the performance question.
- Project development time should not exceed 120 days.